LIFE'S SPICE.

"Variety is the Spice of Life."

BY S. MCK. F.

The powers that be announced that there would be a special election this week, if I had anything I wanted to say. I think we will all agree in being glad the election is over. An interesting thing in connection with the election is the woman suffrage question, as indicated by its practical effects in several of the western States. Colorado seems to be the one that attracted most attention, possibly on account of the bitter fight between the male Republicans and Democrats, engendered by the strike problem. A staff correspondent of a Missouri paper acknowledges that women in politics are never worse than men, and how could they be? Some women go into politics for the same reason that men do, and they are most bitter in their partisanship after they decide where they stand, for women usually mean what they say. Two men will bluster at each other, call hard names of all kinds, and then turn around and have a cigar or drink together. Catch a woman doing such a thing! A prominent Colorado politician, who was one of the ardent advocates of woman suffrage as an aid to the purification of politics, acknowledges that he is disappointed as to the result. Where cigars and whiskey are used to influence a man's vote, candy and chewing gum are used for the woman. It is said that the woman vote is divided into three classes, and two are always to be depended on. The first is the woman who votes exactly as her husband or brothers do, and the second are the women of bad repute who are voted as Indians by the party that will give them the best protection. In the third class are the women who think the matter over carefully and vote for what they consider right, regardless of party, and the practical politician has little effect with this class. I firmly believe women should vote always on all school questions, and women in the voting States have accomplished a wonderful amount of good in school work and the establishment of kindergartens every place. Many women hold important positions as school directors and superintendents, and fill them with honor and distinction.

CHILD LABOR INCREASING.

Recently Published Census Statistics Show That One in Five is a Breadwinner.

Census statistics just published show that despite the opposition from various sources child labor in the United States is increasing. According to these figures every fifth child in the country between the ages of ten and 16 years is a breadwinner. Of these juvenile wage earners every third child is a girl. There are 1,250,378 children regularly employed. This is an increase of 33.3 per cent in ten years. Alabama has the highest percentage of child labor, finding work for 27.2 per cent of her children, while Massachusetts has the lowest, having only 3.9 per cent of her juvenile population at work. Of all the children employed 26.1 per cent are boys and 73.9 per cent are girls. In all of the southern states the percentage of children employed is high. It is also high in the western states and remarkable in the north. The number of children employed in 1890 was 1,118,356, or 16.8 per cent of the entire child population, but in 1900 the percentage was 18.2.

POPULATION OF THE EARTH

At Beginning of Present Century It Was 1,503,100,000 Souls—Europe Has the Greatest Density.

The population of the earth at the beginning of the present century amounted to 1,503,100,000 souls, distributed over an area of 55,426,691 square miles, or about 26 persons to the square mile. The divergencies are, however, very wide in this respect varying from 194 to the square mile in Europe to two persons to the same amount of territory in Australia and Polynesia. As to the total of the populations, Asia, the home of the yellow races, is far in the lead with 819,556,000. Europe is next with 382,264,000. Even Africa is ahead of North America, the dark continent being accredited with 140,799,000, while North America is given 105,714,000. South America has 78,482,000. Australia and Polynesia 4,883,000 and the polar lands 91,000. As to the density, after Europe, as shown above with its 194 persons to the square mile comes Asia with 46.5, North America with 12, Africa 13, South America 5 and Polynesia 2.

Pay for Transport Positions. It has been found by the officers of the army transport service that the practice of making men pay for positions on the transports has been in vogue at San Francisco for a long time. An investigation is being made and the shipping commissioners will prosecute the guilty parties, some men have paid as high as $100 for a place.

Not Appreciated. The Olympic games at the world's fair did not draw much more than the average attendance. Had the attraction been a boxing match between two of the top-notchers in the pugilistic world the capacity of the grounds would have been taxed to the limit.

Just received a fine line of lamps, beauties, to be sold at phenomenally low prices. Come early and avoid the rush. E. C. GROLOCK.

GRAND LEADER, FARMINGTON, MISSOURI.

There that I know has not had a bath for dozens of years to judge by the condition of his legs and feet, on which he was wearing an old pair of slippers.

I am glad to announce that the Tabard Inn library is to have an improved service. The inspector of libraries made a visit here last week and after considering the matter decided that we were entitled to some consideration. I think the trouble has been that the Tabard Inn idea was so popular that they became overwhelmed with business to the detriment of the service. We are promised an exchange of one hundred and twenty books within a week or two, and after the 1st of December a regular monthly exchange of sixty books.

A catalogue has been issued and subscribers will be allowed to select the books they want to read, and if they are not sent in one exchange they will be sent in another. A list of one hundred and twenty books will be sent to Chicago headquarters and from this list sixty will be sent, after the style of the Book-lovers' service. The contract with Miss Pelt is for three months, so that it is incumbent on the subscribers to see that the library is put on a good paying business, so that we may retain it indefinitely.

WOES OF MAGAZINE ARTIST

Stories Must Be Illustrated Truthfully and Therein Lies Distress of Illustrator.

Now a thousand blessings on the head of the good story-telling public that likes to have their stories illustrated! But that they are illustrated is not enough; they must be illustrated truthfully and thereby hamper the tale of an artist's work, because a writer in Pearson's, if he takes the time now to unfold should make the eye of any of the story writers concerned. They then remember that there is a bottom as big as a palette at the end of my fall—and so no harm is intended.

I remember with amusement an author who used to be very indignant with me for never making pictures of ships, when ships figured so largely in his stories. "I don't believe you can draw a ship," he wrote me one day—and, to tell the honest truth, he hit the right nail on the head. I cannot draw a ship to save my life! The fact is, that an artist can make more mistakes in drawing a ship than in drawing almost anything else and, of course, if one is ignorant, it does not do to display that ignorance before a critical public. And this accounts for the reason why you will hardly ever find more than the merest indication of a ship in any sketch of mine!

RIVALS PETER THE GREAT.

Prince Khilkoff Goes to England to Learn. But Winds Up as Engineer in United States.

Prince Khilkoff, whom the czar has made one of the secretaries of state, is the head of an ancient house and in youth was regarded by his family as a crank and a dangerous one to boot. He had to undertake the management of the family estates at about the time that the serfs were being emancipated and his magnanimity toward his underlings did not please the rest of his family, so young Khilkoff went on an pilgrimage. He thought it would be good to follow the example of Peter the Great and go to England to learn. He went to Birkenhead and worked there as an ordinary artisan. News of great railway developments in America called him over and he came to the United States and worked right through the fitting and engine-building shops and learned to drive an engine. He returned home to perform a similar office at the time that the railways of Russia were beginning to boom. Employed first as an engineer, he was promoted to the control of locomotive works, was made head of a line and pushing his way step by step, proved himself the ideal man for the post of minister of ways of communication.

NORWAY HOT AS CHICAGO.

Man in Open Car Tells Real Facts About Coolness of Northern Country.

"It's funny how people talk without knowing what they are talking about," said the man on the seat of a Chicago open car that same night three prisoners in the lockup were bitten to death by mosquitoes. Lee was 20 cents a pound with little to be had, and I walked two miles to buy a glassful of lemonade and then found it scalding hot. "No street-Don't you do any looking for Norway. You just eat a hearty boiled dinner, take two glasses of hot south and then get an end seat on a car and let her go! Gather and keep your palm fan waving. This hotness is all imagination. You won't make more than one round trip before you'll want to get home and tangle in a feather bed and draw a pair of woolen blankets up to your ears."

AZTECS AS MEDICAL MEN.

Ancient Mexican Race Believed to Have Been Far Advanced in Healing Art.

The ancient Aztec race of Mexico was far advanced in the practice of medicine. The native Mexicans practiced massage, and were used in the dressing of fractured bones, inflamed joints were treated by drawing out the teeth were extracted for dental purposes, and ground into a fine powder. Stiffness of the muscles and joints was treated by the sweat bath, the actual surgery was applied to the edges of wounds and venous draws out of poisoned blood by sucking. In short, the practice of medicine among the early Mexicans compares very favorably with that in vogue at the time of the landing of the pilgrim fathers.

BOOK SALESMAN FLOORED.

Massachusetts Woman Pronounces Crowninshield as Guineal and Man Nearly Faints.

"I have always rather prided myself on the accuracy of my pronunciation," said a salesman in a Chicago book store, to an Irish Ocean reporter. "But a woman from Massachusetts who came in yesterday floored me flat. She said she wanted a book the name of which she had forgotten, but it was about an American who visited some people at a French chateau. This didn't give me any definite idea of what book she wanted. 'You must have it,' she said. 'It's by a very prominent Washington woman. Her husband is in the navy. Her name is Grunsel, Mrs. Grunsel.'"

"I could not for the life of me recall any Washington lady named Grunsel," said the lady to the name down and give me time to look it up. What on earth do you think she wrote? Why Crowninshield. She told me, too, that it's an old Massachusetts name, and that nobody up there ever calls Crowninshield anything but Grunsel!"

Raises Farming to Science.

At Farmington, Berkshire, England, farming has been raised to a science. Mr. George Adams, of the royal prize farm, Watley house, farms some 4,000 acres, of which about half is arable and half pasture. He employs from 250 to 260 laborers, milks 500 cows daily, keeps about 40 Shire blood mares, a score of breeding sows, and from 3,000 to 4,000 laying hens, grows about 1,000 acres of grain, besides attending to other multifarious items in the ordinary course of farm practice. About 1,000 acres of meadow hay are harvested annually. All the work, cutting, carrying and rickling, is done by piece-work.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

"By the President of the United States:

"It has pleased Almighty God to bring the American people in safety and honor through another year, and in accordance with the long unbroken custom handed down to us by our forefathers, the time has come when a special day shall be set apart in which to thank Him who holds all nations in the hollow of his hand for the mercies thus vouchsafed to us.

"During the century and a quarter of our national life we, as a people, have been blessed beyond all others, and for this we owe humbly and heartily thanks to the author of all blessings. The year that has closed has been one of peace, within our own borders, as well as between us and other nations. The harvests have been abundant, and those who work, whether with hand or brain, are prospering greatly.

REWARD FOR HONEST EFFORT.

"Reward has awaited upon honest effort. We have been enabled to do our duty to ourselves and to others. Never has there been a time when religious and charitable effort has been more evident. Much has been given to us and much will be expected from us. We speak of what has been done by this nation in no spirit of boastfulness or vainglory, but with full and reverent realization that our strength is as nothing unless we are helped from above. Hitherto we have been given the heartiest strength to do the tasks allotted to us as they severally arose. We are thankful for all that has been done for us in the past, and we pray that in the future we may be strengthened in the unending struggle to do our duty fearlessly and honestly, with clarity and good will, with respect for ourselves and with love toward our fellow-men.

"In this great Republic the effort to combine national strength with personal freedom is being tried on a scale more gigantic than ever before in the world's history. Our success will mean much, not only for ourselves, but for the future of all mankind, and every man or woman in our land should feel the grave responsibility resting upon him or her, for in the last analysis this success must depend upon the high average of our individual citizenship, upon the way in which each of us does his duty by himself and his neighbor.

"Now, therefore, I, Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, do hereby appoint and set apart Thursday, the twenty-fourth of this November, to be observed as a day of festival and thanksgiving by all the people of the United States at home or abroad, and do recommend that on that day they cease from their ordinary occupations and gather in their several places of worship or in their homes, devoutly to give thanks unto Almighty God for the benefits he has conferred upon us as individuals and as a nation, and to beseech him that in the future his divine favor may be continued to us.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the City of Washington, this first day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and four, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-ninth.

(Signed) "THEODORE ROOSEVELT,"
"By the President,"
(Signed) "JOHN HAY,"
"Secretary of State."
